

NATION LEAGUE STATESMEN TO DEBATE DANZIG

Free City Now Europe's No. 1 Danger Point

By J. F. SANDERSON
The League of Nations Press Staff Writer in London, May 13.—Representatives of Great Britain, France and Sweden, members of the council of three, will discuss informally Polish and German claims over Danzig during the League of Nations Council meeting opening at Geneva May 22.

Lord Halifax, George Bonnet and R. E. F. Bredin, the international mediator of Europe's Baltic province, are not likely to do anything about the free city which at the moment is Europe's No. 1 danger point.

RAGER TO RETURN
Germany wants Danzig's incorporation in the Reich and there is no doubt that Hitler is determined to return, Poland is just as determined to resist must remain as it is.

Colonel Joseph Beck, Polish foreign minister, having announced that the world's Peace will be rather than submit to German claims.

Military strategy and problems of defence under Poland's refusal to permit Danzig to become incorporated in Germany. The free city is established under the League of Nations as a demilitarized zone in the Polish corridor.

WOMEN ALSO
Poland remember that Menet also was a demilitarized zone in Lithuania, but that when Germany tried it they lost no time in fortifying it.

If Danzig was given back to the Nazis, a motivated crowd would march to the Polish corridor from the Baltic Sea in less than an hour. Danzig also could be used as a base for German troops to attack Poland from the north.

At present the Polish government is completely handicapped. At present the Polish government is completely handicapped. At present the Polish government is completely handicapped.

Royal Party is Delayed By Fogs and Icebergs

Government officials who arranged for the trip to the Arctic region of Canada were quite aware of the fog hazard at this time of year off Newfoundland and the Gulf of St. Lawrence.

In an effort to avoid a delayed arrival at Quebec they changed the original sailing date at Port of Montreal from May 1 to May 6.

But the fog has been far more persistent than they could have foreseen and today all hope of landing on time has been abandoned.

NAVY ICEBERGS
Flanked on both sides by icebergs and "growlers," the Empress made her way slowly through the dense fog. Captain A. R. McKie was able to give the full steam ahead signal only once during the day, for an hour in the afternoon, and as night fell, and with a heavy mist, the liner came to a standstill.

The icebergs, necessitating caution on the part of the commander, afforded King George the opportunity to use his binoculars and a telescope.

MEETING TAKEN PICTURES
An enthusiastic photographer, Mr. Majesty took full advantage of the opportunity to take pictures of the royal party.

When the last group of fog dropped down on the liner last night, the royal party was on the bridge. Queen Elizabeth was keenly interested when the saw the ships engines were stopped and lookouts were posted as soon as the fog fell.

Province MAY BUY FEEDERS MULLEN SAYS

Purchase of $1,500,000 worth of feeder lambs and cattle by public auction next fall for 15 feeder units.

The purchase of $1,500,000 worth of feeder lambs and cattle by public auction next fall for 15 feeder units, was announced today by the provincial government.

This statement was made Friday night by Hon. J. A. Mullen, provincial minister of agriculture, in addressing the banquet of the Alberta Association of Alberta at the Royal George hotel.

Other speakers at the banquet were Professor J. P. Sackville, head of the animal husbandry department of the University of Alberta.

Convention of the association will be held in this city on Saturday afternoon after all day sessions will have been held of the school of auctioneering conducted by Col. Fred McMillan, a well-known auctioneer and guest lecturer for the meeting of the association.

Greatest single problem facing the farmers of the west today, declared Mr. Mullen, is that of marketing and the assurance of stable markets for Canadian exports.

Larger livestock sales by auction at which choice Alberta stock would be sold will be held in the future in various parts of the province, said Mr. Mullen.

Major and Minor Notes

By John Oliver

When Their Majesties King George VI and Queen Elizabeth visit here on Friday, June 2, music will play an important part in the events of the day. And rightly so. On such an occasion music will take its place as one of the major factors in the celebrations. Streets will be closed for hours before the royal visitors arrive here. Thousands of school children and their parents, as well as city visitors, will be seated in the bleachers and there will be a long, long wait before Their Majesties appear. Here is where music comes in. According to present plans, there will be about 18 bands spread out the 12-mile parade route and these organizations will dispense "clouds of sweet sound" to keep the vast throngs entertained. The bands will prepare programs of a nature calculated to please and to while away the hours pleasantly. For such an occasion nothing can equal music. Some of the bands will come from neighboring districts and can rest assured of a hearty welcome. And it is to be hoped that, despite the strain of playing, they will keep the music going as the crowd of spectators grows and will benefit immeasurably thereby.

Dennis Clayton, leader of the orchestra which will play for Their Majesties during their visit to Jasper Lodge on June 1, has selected his program and has forwarded it to headquarters for approval. Mr. Clayton and his orchestra, all Edmonton musicians, will come here and play for the entertainment dinner at the Macdonald on June 1 when Their Majesties are here. The program is drafted with a view to covering certain leading three hours.

The program for Jasper is as follows: Wail, Toccata, Fugue, Serenade, Duet, Cigarette, A. Kennedy Selection, The Klaxons, Sullivan, Norwegian Dance, Grieg, Reverie, Debussy, Waltz, and Musette, Joachim, Ruff, Selection of Melodies by Rudolf Friml; Andante from the Violin Concerto, by Max Bruch; Three Cuban Dances, Ignace Cavallieri; Moorish Serenade, R. Chapi; Andante, by Max Bruch; Selection from No. 10, Nannette, Vincent Youmans; Festival Dance and Waltz, by Max Bruch; Delibes, Capriccio, Irene Valse; Selection, The Klaxons; H. Middleton; Aubade Mexicaine; Duet, Morley; From the Land of the Sky Blue Water, by Max Bruch; Scenes from an Imaginary Ballet, S. Cordeiro Taylor; Valse Nannette, Friml; Andante, by Max Bruch; In the Shadow, Herman Frank; Duet, by Max Bruch; Ciel Bleu; Three Gypsy Songs, Anton Dvorak; I Know a Garden, Guy de Maupassant; Serenade du Triang, C. R. Alder; Suite, From the South, N. Rode. It is likely that the program, to a large extent, will be repeated here on the day following in performance at Jasper.

It was a matter of deep satisfaction to Herbert G. Turner that his pupil, Mrs. Jessie M. Plummer, came to a six-year retirement to win a first place at the Alberta Music Festival at Calgary. Mrs. Turner has been a busy man recently. He acted as the program of the recent Edmonton District Music Festival, conducted his violin choir which was one of the competitors and continued his teaching.

Sponsored by the Canadian Corps Association, the Army and Navy Vets Concert Party, and Edward Struckos as master-of-ceremonies, will be given on a special royal visit program over special CKUA from 8 until 9:30 p.m. next Tuesday. It is expected that H. A. Dye, past president of the Canadian Corps Association, and W. L. Oliver, present incumbent of the presidency, will speak, while there is a possibility that His Honor Lt. Gov. J. C. Bowen also will be heard. Those who will contribute to the program will be the Corps Association and composed mainly of returned men who served with regimental bands overseas in the First World War. The program will be a pastiche of martial character, in keeping with the royal visit.

Annual election of officers of the Edmonton Male Chorus, held early this week, resulted in Maurice Backlund being elected as president for the 1939-1940 season. Other officers elected were: Vice-president, Walter Hildreth; Treasurer, Walter K. Evans; Secretary, Charles Edwards; and Sam Hildreth, who will be the pianist. The program will be a pastiche of martial character, in keeping with the royal visit.

The 1939-1940 season will open on Wednesday evening, Sept. 4, and applications for membership in the male chorus will be welcomed from tenor, baritone or bass singers. Those wishing to join should write the secretary, Mr. Evans, at 1317 47 street, or contact Mr. Hendra at Albert College. Incidentally, a special rehearsal of the chorus will be held at 9 p.m. on Sunday and all members are urged to attend.

Guest pianist at the Toronto Conservatory of Music Alumni chapter which met recently at the home of Jessie Hendra, were Gladys Rymer, Donna Fraser and Margaret Rymer. Mrs. William McLellan was the vocalist and contributed numbers. She was accompanied by Mrs. Jean Nelson Kirkpatrick. Members attending were Mrs. G. M. Dunlop, Mrs. T. H. Pratt, Mrs. A. F. Anderson, Mrs. R. S. Broad, Mrs. M. E. Anderson, Mrs. J. A. Buchanan, Mrs. K. E. Roberville, Misses Clara King, Hazel Taylor, Eleanor Crawford and Margaret Gallagher.

W. G. Strachan, manager of Henkman's, is receiving many congratulations these days on account of the special award made him at the Edmonton District Musical Festival held here last week. The presentation of the special award was made by Howard Stubbich, chairman of the festival committee, and it was made at the express suggestion of Sir Ernest MacMillan, adjudicator at the festival. The award was for a special vocal medley arranged by Mr. Strachan for the Kivania Glee Club. In his medley, Mr. Strachan made use of many popular themes, intertwining them running into each other, and generally devising and constructing an interesting sequence of songs.

It was a happy thought that prompted Sir Ernest to suggest a special award as it was merited. It was by no means the first arrangement made by Mr. Strachan. He has done much work for the Kivania Glee Club and has done several fine orchestral arrangements as well as composing some attractive numbers. Those who have worked with him have been aware of his talents and realize that they are recognized. Mr. Strachan is one of the Dominion's premier pianists and was president of the Edmonton Symphony Orchestra for the 13 years of its existence.

The coronation of Their Majesties produced a flood of patriotic music, mostly good marches and songs in praise of their royal qualities. Their visit to this continent is having a like effect and some splendid songs and choral numbers have come to hand. From New York came a song entitled The Glorious Pair. Words only are to hand, but here they are to show the enthusiasm with which the royal couple will be greeted to the south of the industrial border.

Oh, the King God have him and the Queen. God bless her, we're proud to welcome her here. Of all the couples in this wide, wide world.

They're the ones that we hold most dear; So let us be a man and fill your glasses With a toast for that glorious pair.

Three cheers, we'll say hip-hip-hooray. For the King and Queen from over there.

The music is not of the swing variety. It is a good rousing march.

HERE are the seven Edmonton musicians, members of the orchestra, who will play for Their Majesties King George and Queen Elizabeth during their visit to Jasper on June 1, and at the government dinner held here on June 2.

All have played in leading orchestral programs in this city and all have taken part in programs which have originated here and were carried by the CBC.

The makeup of the orchestra is plain: three violins, cello and double bass. The program of music to be played will be found elsewhere in this issue, and includes classical and lighter classics.

Notice was given that the Western Board of Music examinations for 1939 will take place on May 14 and 27 for theory, and the third week in June will see practical exams held. After the adjournment of the regular meeting, a special meeting was called to discuss an alteration in membership fees, which was made.

BERLIN SEES BRITAIN EVEN IN HOCKEYING

Sparring for Position in Balkans Is Tricky Game

BERLIN, May 12.—Announcement of the British-Turkish agreement was interpreted in Berlin last night as evening up the score between Germany and Great Britain in the sparring for position in the Balkans.

It was pointed out Germany first successfully negotiated a favorable trade treaty with Rumania-Bulgaria following with a pact initiated in Bucharest yesterday.

Germany sent her former Chancellor, Franz Von Papen, as "ambassador for special services" to Turkey last month but Britain and Turkey nevertheless have announced a mutual assistance agreement.

But at almost the same time as this was announced, D.N.B. official German news agency reported the Turkish national assembly unanimously approved a German-Turkish financial agreement whereby Germany will extend a credit of 100,000,000 marks (about $400,000,000) to Turkey.

Insurrection in Palestine Will Be Called Soon

JERUSALEM, May 13.—A circular calling for a general insurrection throughout Palestine immediately after the government has announced white paper regarding proposals for settlement of the Holy Land problem was distributed here today by the "Palestine Arab rebel" bank at certain times.

Then for several days the barker hung around to see what would happen. He expected the full scale of vengeance when he passed the house and heard his horse in a pouring rain.

The Deacon yelled at him, "You sold me a barker, David Harum! To think David merely called him 'barker'! I didn't want to buy the horse, I just said that he would stand without biting."

John Lennon, who had made his name in the music business, returned from Europe. They had loved each other and had made plans to marry. But John's father had had a change of heart and had called him, leaving John nothing.

LAST TRACK OF TIME

In the confusion of his unfortunate experience, John lost track of time. To make things worse, Mary's family found it necessary to leave at once for California. She wrote to John and gave the letter to a neighbor to deliver. The boy read the letter and when John called to see her, Mary had been gone for some time, leaving no word for him.

David Harum's New York friend was looking for someone to fill the job in David's bank. He knew John and offered him the place.

John handed David's banking affairs efficiently and pleasantly. The customers liked him. Month in and month out David found everything well with John, except that he was not married. David inquired about this, but John said nothing about Mary Blake.

So John learned that side of David's nature. But there was another. One brother was the brutal image of his brutal father. When he landed in jail, David wrote him that he had received just what he deserved. He wrote to the officials and under oath of secrecy, he told his brother's tale.

So time passed. John took over more and more of David's responsibilities. He developed a cough and was sent away on a long vacation. Like a homing pigeon he went back to the place where he had been happy in youth. Again he met Mary Blake traveling with her invalid uncle. They straightened their difficulties and were married. Upon arriving in his forty-first year, David and Polly received Mary to her home at Homerville, where she was a nurse. John built a home on a site that David gave to them, and they named their first son David Lennox.

GETS BEST OF DAVID

Long before this the Deacon had been the best of David in a horse trade. David had not forgotten it. He had wanted a long time. When one day he bought a beautiful horse from passing traders, he named him a barker and found that he was a barker. He would go far and fast and nothing could make him move one step. David was angry at first, but he saw the golden light of reason when he saw that David Lennox.

Bludging his horse he learned that

His Reign Dates Flux of Europe

King Came to Throne
as War Talk Echoed
Across the Channel

By J. F. HENDERSON
Canadian Press Staff Writer
LONDON, May 13.—(CP)—King George has opened the British throne 29 months and during that time there has been crisis after crisis, with Europe tottering back and forth on the verge of war. Through it all King George and Queen Elizabeth have set the British people a fine example of coolness, determination and devotion to duty.

MAJOR ALARMS.
A recent incident shows this. The King and Queen were in residence at Windsor, 30 miles from London, when it became necessary for the Prime Minister Chamberlain to consult him about some aspect of foreign affairs arising out of Italy's conquest of Albania. Normally, there would have been no question of the Prime Minister visiting Windsor. But Britain has a "crisis" and one who realizes the physical and mental strain underlying the strength of his cabinet minister is so volunteered to drive up to London to see Mr. Chamberlain. He arrived at the time and energy of his "royal" prime minister. And that's what happened.

Ministers in modern times have lost their reign punctuated to regular by major alarms as King George. When he succeeded his brother Edward VII in December, 1901, the British Empire was at its greatest. Since then Nazi Germany has swallowed up Austria, Czechoslovakia and Memel. Italy has annexed Albania.

In between these territorial gains the two Pacific nations have kept the world in a continual state of jitter by threats against Poland, France and China. Today Europe is an armed camp with every border lined with men and guns. In Asia, China and Japan are locked in a death struggle.

It has been a nerve-racking reign for Britain's 43-year King. Month after month he has watched his country square away by the proverbial inch. And yet, his calmness remained cool and collected, doing his best to give confidence to the hearts of the people.

When the nation embarked on a vast scheme to reform the law, he was called on for aid, no man set a finer example than the King. He ordered the old grounds of Windsor Castle to be strengthened into a modern underground shelter, and every week every member of the royal family, including the child on the throne, including the King and Queen, go through an air raid drill.

FOR EMERGENCY.
Every light in the castle is shut off, people hurry down to the underground, first aid crews assemble. The King and Queen take their place under the watchful eye of King George, who has been a trained coast surveyor by training coast during a naval battle.

That has been King George's role in the tense, gripping months he has occupied the throne. He has been a man of peace, but he has devoted his time to setting for his people an example of coolness and national service that has had an incalculable effect on the nation.

Royal Train Blue and Gold

For many Canadians the only glimpse of the royal tour will be the gleaming train, the train trimmed with silver and gold, that comes from beyond the horizon, streaking across the prairie or through the mountainous west.

A two-car pilot train, carrying newspapers, some members of the royal household and railway officials, will precede the main train.

The royal train itself, six locomotives in the various Canadian and Pacific and Canadian National Railways divisions, have been painted blue and trimmed with silver and gold. The passenger coaches have been of gunmetal, topped by the royal blue. Panels between windows are of silver with horizontal gold stripes above and below the windows. The train carries the latest equipment for maintaining communication at all times.

Uniform Version of "O Canada"

There are several versions in English of "O Canada," and the Dominion interdepartmental committee in charge of details for the royal visit points out it would be desirable if there were one uniform version of the song used throughout the nation were not uniform.

The text lyrics were written, in French, by Judge Adolphe Beaulieu of Quebec in 1880 to the tune of Calixa Lavallée. Robert Stanley Weir, Montreal judge and poet, wrote an English version 20 years later, in 1906. The committee has asked that English-speaking school children sing the Weir version. First verse and chorus follow:

O Canada! Our home and native land!
True patriot love in all thy sons command!
With glowing hearts we see thee
rise,
The true north star, our guide!
We stand on guard to thee,
We stand on guard to thee,
O Canada, glorious and free!
O Canada, we stand on guard for thee!
O Canada, we stand on guard for thee!

NEW YORK, May 13.—(CP)—When King George and Queen Elizabeth visit the United States in June, the great democracy that wrested itself from the British Empire more than a century ago will welcome the chance warmly to take them to its heart. The main worry of officials in charge of details of the visit is to stand on guard for their American hosts.

PREPARE WELCOME.

Canada's Prime Minister Attends Sovereign

By PAT LUSHER

LONDON, May 13.—(CP)—In Queen Elizabeth Canadians will meet a devoted mother and a thrifty housewife. When the Queen steps ashore with King George at Quebec they will see, too, that famous smile with which she has won her way into the hearts of all the people of the Empire. They will appreciate her gracious, unassuming manner. They will frequently see her nervous and flustered officials at their courtiers.

WIDE INTERESTS.
Canadian women will find the Queen a full and busy woman. Children in the Dominion are brought up, disciplined, educated and so forth. "Mam" and "Sir" for Majesties

A short cut for women and a formal bow for men are the modes of salute for Canadian civilians who meet King and Queen at various points across Canada during their month-long tour.

"Mam" is the correct address for the Queen. The King should be spoken to as "Sir," and if conversed with, "Your Majesty" should be used at least once. An exception is made in the case of the Queen's mother, the Queen Mother, who should be addressed as "Your Majesty" at all times.

Curtsies to their Majesties while they are in Canada will be a simple feat than the deep genuflection at court presentations. When they are in the right line and bend knees until left knee centres right ear, keeping the head and hand erect," is the instruction. At the Drawing Room, the Queen will be seated on the left and the King on the right. The Queen will be seated on the left and the King on the right.

Regal Attire to Sing
With Boys at Camp

By GUY BROADBENT
Canadian Press Staff Writer
LONDON, May 13.—(CP)—Canadian boys who attend camps this summer of the visit of the King and Queen to Canada will see a tall, fair-haired, quiet man who looks shy and appears younger than his 43 years. King George usually appears serious, except when he is visiting his boys' camp or taking part in some thoroughly informal activity. On formal occasions he seems slightly worried.

AS BOYS CAMP.
His Majesty's ability to unwind when the occasion offers was exemplified particularly last summer when he was at a boys' camp in Victoria and Albert and landed at a seaside boys' camp, where he mingled with the youngsters and sang "The Chestnut Tree," a light-hearted song. Queen Elizabeth also came a national favorite after singing a new song at a boys' camp.

His Majesty is a fair athlete, has a soft house and is fond of doing a good amount of himself on his own. He is a good swimmer, a good tennis player, a good golfer, a good worker at school and college. The King himself says examinations are a good thing. "Tricolor" Is Strathcona Year Book For All High School Students' Work

Ambitious Venture Under Director Sam Lieberman Is Success

This year the students of Strathcona Composite High school are publishing their first year book. The publication will be entitled "The Tricolor," the name being used to signify the three school colors—green, gold and maroon—and also the three divisions of this newly organized school.

A staff of 25 students, and advertising manager Ernie Towne, are busily engaged in the production of this ambitious venture. The staff was fortunate in securing Duncan E. Lines as faculty adviser.

CLASSIC MOTIF The "Tricolor" will be a book of 135 glossy pages bound in a heavy gold cover. The cover design found its origin in the mind of one of the school's resourceful students. The motif followed through the book is that of classical sculpture. There will be several sections in the publication: faculty, classes, executives, literary, social, personal, athletic and advertising. These sections will be introduced by gold pages printed in green and maroon.

PICTURES The staff has given every student the opportunity of having his or her picture in the year book. Individual portraits of the graduating students and group pictures of the various school organizations, although to be obtained by individual purchase, will be included in the year book.

The staff of the year book expects to have the publication in the hands of the published students inside of two weeks.

Students Present Three Fine Plays At Garneau School

About 300 parents and friends of students at Garneau elementary and intermediate school were treated to a delightful evening of entertainment at the school on Wednesday evening when the pupils presented three plays at their dramatic night. Plans, scenery, costumes and vocal solos also added to the pleasure of the audience. A. E. Mign, principal of the school, presided.

The North Pole is moving southward at a rate of about six inches a year.

Scout Doings

The King's Birthday, May 20, will have a special significance for all Canadians this year as it will occur while he is touring the Dominion. To Scouts who pledge their loyalty to their sovereign under the Scout law the occasion will be marked by a unique celebration as chains of beacons will flare from coast to coast. At Coquitla Alberta Scouts will join with their neighbors from Montana to plant a row of trees, a symbol of the friendly relationship that flag day will provide citizens with a good sized portion of the miles of planting.

May 20th will be the date for the annual flag day in Edmonton when Cubs and Scouts will post at their corners selling flag to passers-by. For five days preceding hundreds of boys will be assigned the task of house-to-house canvassing and efforts expect that flag day will provide citizens with a good sized portion of the miles of planting.

C.G.I.T. Sponsor Colorful Banquet

The theme, "Calling All Canada," provided originality and color in the program and decorations of the mothers' and daughters' banquet held by the C.G.I.T. in the basement of their church last Tuesday evening.

Each of the groups had a table decorated with fancy place cards and flowers arranged to represent the foreign country.

During the evening a presentation was made to Miss Redden by Miss Bolton for her work in the recent anti-slavery campaign.

McDougall Youth Planning Concert

Manion Proposes Parley By Joint Committee On Question of Defence

THREE SISTERS INJURED WHEN CAR OVERTURNS

OTTAWA, May 12.—Hon. R. J. Manion's proposal that a joint committee of the senate and house of commons be set up to discuss defence matters behind closed doors, if necessary, with officials of the national defence department met with approval of Hon. Ian Maclean, minister of defence, in the commons Friday.

Leading off in the debate on defence estimates the Conservative leader repeated the suggestion he made in earlier speeches and complained the government was dilatory in bringing Canada's defence up to a proper standard of efficiency.

"I am quite in favor of my honorable friend's suggestion," said Mr. Maclean.

Now that both major parties were on record in favor of full cooperation with the United Kingdom in everything short of conceiving the Canadian should discard caution and make a generous offer of real cooperation, said Mr. Manion.

should have profited by past mistakes," he said. "I submit it should not have taken this government four years to realize that we had made a mistake in thinking the world was going to be peaceful when in fact the world has not remembrance of peace at the present time except in so far as there is no actual war, apart from the one in Spain.

No one was more sincerely against war than he, Mr. Manion declared, but he realized Canada could not stand idle by while the rest of the world reared. That would be like trying to maintain free trade principles while the whole world was building up tariffs. The situation provided a great opportunity for Canada, he believed, to relieve unemployment. He contended Canada should be ready to mobilize industry in case of war.

British Columbia to Carry Out Ground Survey For Alaskan Highway

VICTORIA, May 12.—The British Columbia government this summer will carry out a ground survey of the proposed eastern or Keweenaw Mountain trench route for the Alaska highway, connecting Alaska and Washington state through British Columbia and the Yukon territory.

Two survey parties will leave at the end of this month to work from each end of the proposed route—an alternative to the western route by way of Hamilton and Astoria.

The western route was surveyed completely some years ago. The eastern route is now being covered to complete information available on the British Columbia section of the projected highway, government sources said.

The ground reconnaissance will be in addition to aerial inspection planned by the Alaska Highway Commission's Canadian section. One party will go in from Fort James, working from the end of the Mackenzie creek mining road, down Mackenzie river to Finlay River. From there it will follow Finlay river to Fort Graham and thence to Sifton Pass. The height of land between the Arctic and Pacific divides.

The other party will go in by way of Telegraph Creek and McNamee creek and work south from lower post on the Liard river, following the Liard and Kechika river to Sifton Pass.

This route is known as the Rocky Mountain Trench and is regarded by some engineers as more favorable from point of view of reconstruction problems than the western route.

In many countries of the world, topography is popular as food.

KIDS CLAMOR AT GATES FOR EARLY SWIMS

More Than 450 Enter Pools In First Three Hours

Up until noon Saturday nearly 900 children had taken their first swim of the season in the city's three swimming pools. West End pool reported about 200 admissions, East End about 300 and the South Side 362.

Boys and girls clamored at the gates of Edmonton's three municipal outdoor swimming pools as early as four o'clock this morning, waiting for the first plunge on opening day. When the pool opened at six o'clock, they streamed through the turnstiles and raced to the dressing rooms eager to be the first into the water.

By nine o'clock more than 450 young swimmers had been for their season's first dip.

At the west end about 200 had been swimming by nine o'clock, it was reported by Charlie Mathison, superintendent.

"They woke me up at four o'clock and kept shouting over the fence," said a parent. "I was there at six o'clock, waiting for them in the pool." Mathison said.

There were 60 swimmers in the pool at the West End pool, and 20 crowded through the door at six o'clock. The first ticket at 100 was bought Friday evening at 130 by Lawrence Miller.

First three hours, Charlie Cooper, aged 16, was the first to dive into the water.

"They were down here at four o'clock," said Jim Crockett, superintendent at the South Side pool, in Riverside park.

At Jim Crockett's pool there were about 100 swimmers in the first three hours. Charlie Cooper, aged 16, was the first to dive into the water.

"They woke me up at 4:30, at any time," said Tom Chivers, superintendent. "I brought them in and gave them some tea and food, eggs to eat, and they didn't wait any time when they got the signal to go swimming."

City commissioners are receiving bids from fire engine manufacturers for a new fire engine, for which $8000 was budgeted in this year's capital estimates. Among the bidders was the La France Fire Engine and Machine Co. of Vancouver, which has been awarded the contract.

Through The Mill

One night recently a patrolman saw a man acting in what seemed to be a suspicious manner, and questioned him. Not satisfied with the explanation offered by the man, he took him to the police station, and in court the man was charged under the Vagrancy Act.

The court thought his suggestion that he was on his way home to his home after eating a nocturnal lunch at a cafe was reasonable enough, however, and he was dismissed.

Ravages of narcotics were plainly evident on a map charged with illegal possession of drugs when he appeared in court for sentence Saturday.

He was sentenced to serve six months in jail, with an option of $200 with the option of an additional three months.

LONDON, May 12.—The British boxing board of control announced Friday it would recognize the Len Harvey-Jack McAvoy fight at Harrogate June 16 as the light heavyweight championship of the world and for the British title.

The board announced the administrative standards had confirmed decision of the emergency committee in refusing sanction for a fight between Harvey and John Henry, the generally recognized world light heavyweight champion. Referee Leo Magiri Definitely On Spot

By JACK DEAN

IF REFEREE LEO MAGIRI had one friend in the crowd postponing last night's wrestling bouts at the Memorial Hall, even that friend would be an enemy now. Magiri completely lost favor when the popular Soldier Thomas was humbled to defeat by Dandy Dizzy Davis in the main event of Promoter Mike Cutcher's four-bout card.

Now Referee Magiri's job is no assignment for a tenderfoot. It is a he-man's task. The muscle-maniacs themselves are enough to handle, but when the crowd puts the "heat" on that hapless official, said gentleman simply roasts. An ordinary fellow would go completely batty in the belly.

The "heat" is not too much for a referee when only a lone warm favorite gets tossed, but imagine if you can, just how angry the crowd was when an extra special popularity guy like Soldier Thomas got beaten.

THOUGHT SOLDIER WON
There was apparently a reason why fans were extra hot against Magiri. It develops that fast thought Soldier Thomas had the Dizzy one pressed for the winning fall. Referee Magiri failed to see the crowd's way and the net result was a host of unfriendly fan meetings.

Because Promoter Cutcher does not supply fat and feathers, Magiri escaped this punishment but while I did not understand the queer lingo, Magiri was called many names in so many wrathful phrases. Only a scant few minutes of the bout remained when Davis pinned Thomas' head on the mat for the winning fall. But Davis had lost his foe the pile driver twice before the stubborn Soldier would relinquish himself to oblivion.

STOPPED HIM AT START
Thomas felled Davis' early attempt at back-breakers and pile-driving. For the first 20 minutes the manly game was a scintillating performance of class and cleverness in the ring. But Davis' championship mettle seemed for him as the twisted Soldier with an inside circle held, forced the latter to give in.

Less than a minute after the first period, Soldier took a swift tumble out of the champion. He dropped Davis and won the fight with a press. The fall which fast thought Soldier had won and which would have given him the bout came several minutes before Davis drove Soliman down in the third.

Three preliminary bouts rounded out the four-bout card. Pat O'Dowdy, a local favorite, won the first by a clipped Joe Hannibal as he tossed him several minutes against the ropes and then literally slapped him to the mat.

WAS NO NOG
Mushy Callahan's bout against Madman Murdoch, who, as the ex-skill, was no dice. The tactics to wrestle outside the ring paid no dividends to either man and as the bout ended by a referee Magiri's bout was no decision.

One of the most tough battles was the Bob Cummings challenge against King Kong Clayton. There was no nog.

Unique Opportunity For All Basketball Fans To Show Appreciation Of Grads' Generosity In Permitting Their Games To Be Broadcast
ON a great many occasions, especially when the attendance at our games has fallen far below our expectations, our friends have said to us: "Why do you permit the games to be broadcast? Don't you know that hundreds, and perhaps thousands of people stay away during the course of a series just because they can listen to the game without any expense to themselves?"
This is a fair question, and deserves a fair answer. As a matter of fact, we do know that a great many people stay away from the very arenas mentioned, and know they can get a running story of the games by expert commentators with absolutely no cost, and at no greater trouble than turning a dial. We know that in many large cities, particularly in the States, almost fabulous sums are charged for broadcasting rights—right in itself, if any proof were necessary, that the broadcasting of sporting events detracts very seriously from the attendance.
Why, then, do we permit our games to be broadcast? Well, to be perfectly frank, we have tried to look upon our contribution to sport in a somewhat different way than in usually the case in these days of commercialism. We are trying to render a service to many thousands of people who, if they were not for these broadcasts, would be denied the pleasure which we now bring them. To illustrate: A short time ago one of the northern pilots said to us, "Do you know, when I heard the account of your last game?" We hadn't the slightest idea. "Well," he replied, "it was down at Skunk Six or so, and I was in a tent and followed the game play by play." And then he went on to tell us that not one of those other chaps had ever seen the Grads in action, nor did they know any of the acts personally. "Nevertheless," he added, "in a way, they know the acts as well as you, and they talk about Ella Dunn, Noel Macdonald, Mabel Munton and the rest just as if they had known them all their lives. You have no idea what these broadcasts mean to these fellows away out there in those lonely outposts."
Why do we permit our games to be broadcast? Well, perhaps

Three New Managers Seem To Be Doing All Right

Associated Press Sports Writer
THERE should be room in the baseball record after nearly a month of major league competition for an appraisal of the three managers plucked out of the minors last winter to guide the two St. Louis clubs and Philadelphia Phillies.

Managers have been brought into the big time from the side shows before, but none were so little heralded as Roy Halladay, who graduated from the Rochester farm in the International League to the St. Louis Cardinals; Fred Hunter, who moved from Toledo to the American Association to the Braves; and Dr. J. Thompson, who stepped from Little Rock in the Southern Association to the Phillies.

Taking over clubs which finished seventh or last in 1938 this year has made their charge something to be reckoned with. Today the Cardinals are in first place in the National League and the Phillies in sixth. The Braves are parked in sixth in the American League.

FAREWELL TO SPORT

OF ALL the sports-reporting jobs, modern football is the biggest mess and most difficult to write accurately. There are times when it is absolutely impossible to tell just what is going on down there on the grid.

True, if you look at the field, you may see twenty-five line figures, so small that you cannot distinguish their feet, mauling and grubbing on the gridiron below, and before the run gets in, you are able to distinguish which university is by the colors of the jerseys, but that is all. For the details of what goes on and to whom, you depend almost entirely upon the observer in the press box. Every time a mauling is served in the east where the press is particularly where the press is served or not, yowling being promptly drowned out by the noise of the excited crowd. I am even to remember one important football game in which I couldn't even see the figures on the field. It was at Mohr Stadium at West Point, and the cadets were seated immediately in front of the press box. Every time a mauling took the ball and began to run with it, the entire corps jockeyed up and down. We didn't see a play at all long.

SCORE DATA
Considering the importance of football and football news to the sports-readers, it is surprising to see how little the football reporter has to go on in an important game. The game is a mauling of the bodies of men, literally millions of people. The game between Army and Notre Dame, for instance, was played mostly at New York's Yankee Stadium, a park built for baseball. Narrow strips of playing field are tucked up across the backs of the seats in front of each player. The press box, barely large enough to hold the typewriters, and points and other obscure and necessary parts of the field equipment. A Notre Dame and Army player are provided each with a big sign.

The line-ups are provided for the press before the start of the game. Then the two teams come onto the field wearing their numbers on their backs—and when a fight it was to get the colleges to number their players, the figures supposedly corresponding to those in the printed program. You can immediately discover that the line-up you were given has been switched on or all wrong, and you can frantically try to write down the numbers of the twenty-two men as they come in tumbling over the barriers, or logging about to check them with the names on the program.

There is one player, however, Bill Smith, whom you can always tell by his build, without his number 13. You check quickly, and there is Bill Smith at right end, he is wearing number 43. Then gets good. You discover that in a brilliant attempt to confuse the opposing players, the Notre Dame coach has switched all the numbers on that nobody who knew who he was playing. The Notre Dame player in a desperate attempt to help the floundering press has got so far as to say, "I think Woodhouse, number 8, is wearing Flanagan's number 38. Flanagan isn't playing. He is sitting on the bench wearing number 34, but he's playing and instead of tackle, he's a line player while blows and the game starts. And now you are in for it.

ONE SAFE WAY
If you are serving a play-by-play wire for an early edition, the same as in baseball, and keep on the line: "Notre Dame forced eight yards through tackle. Notre Dame ran the left end for six yards. Notre Dame completed a fourteen-yard pass." Your wire will begin to steam itself soon with confusion and messages from the chap on the grid in the office, wanting to know if you have any chance there are any football players on the field and who they might be. And it is only you any good to say that you cannot tell who is who, because he will only say, and with considerable justification, "What are you up there for? You don't expect me to tell down here, do you?"

Here is a job that calls for a real expert in reporting. A man who knows football plays as well as football players, and even if he can't recognize a player covered with mud and slime from head to foot.

CANADA SENDS TENNIS SQUAD TO PLAY CUBA

Davis Cup Matches To Be Staged In Havana This Summer

MONTREAL, May 13.—Count of the Canadian Lawn Tennis association decided today that Canada would send a Davis Cup team to Cuba this summer. President R. N. Wilt of Montreal announced tonight. Members will be chosen on the result of their play in three tournaments in the east where through such trials as are considered necessary.

THE TROUBLESOME ONTARIO
championships, Toronto, June 13-17; Canadian championships at Windsor, Ont., June 18-24; Quebec championships, Montreal, June 25-31. Davis is subject to approval of the club. If any further trials are judged necessary for players on the four-man team they will be held in Montreal immediately after the Quebec championships.

HAVANA IS CHOSEN
Under Davis Cup rules, it is the duty of the Cuban Lawn Tennis association to choose venue for the match this year, and Havana has been chosen. The Davis Cup matches will be played July 21, 22 and 23. Winner of the Davis Cup will meet Japan.

Council awarded the Canadian championships to Windsor. The Davis Cup was not to be held at the event. When then played with the provincial dates set for June 13-17.

INTER-ZONE FINAL
The council announced the Australian Lawn Tennis association called they wished to play the inter-zone final in Montreal this year. It was decided an effort would be made to make these arrangements for August.

When the game is over, the line-up is provided for the press before the start of the game. Then the two teams come onto the field wearing their numbers on their backs—and when a fight it was to get the colleges to number their players, the figures supposedly corresponding to those in the printed program. You can immediately discover that the line-up you were given has been switched on or all wrong, and you can frantically try to write down the numbers of the twenty-two men as they come in tumbling over the barriers, or logging about to check them with the names on the program.

Stop Reckless Driving!

No, the above picture wasn't taken in Edmonton. But it might have been. It is a reproduction of an actual photograph taken by a press cameraman at the scene of a crash in the United States. Unfortunately when it came through in our service there was no story with it, so we can't say whether the driver was dead or not. Perhaps it is his husband who is carrying her. Or maybe the picture which is jolting out of the shattered door of the smashed car is the body of her husband. Not nice to contemplate, is it? Somebody's recklessness was to blame for this crash, as it is to blame for practically every crash. Remember, Mr. Motorist and Mrs. Pedestrian, not one of the 40,000 people who died in traffic accidents last year imagined that death would come so suddenly.

Automobile Accidents Take Mighty Toll of Human Life Comparable to War's Strife

With unsettled international conditions a constant threat to world peace, the thoughts of practically everyone are turned to war and the terrible price in human suffering between the nations of the world. But in spite of their concern about the horror of war, there are few persons who want to consider the terrific loss of life that is caused daily by recklessness and carelessness on the part of automobile drivers.

Do you know that nearly 500,000 persons have died in automobile accidents on this continent during the last five years? Do you know that more than 900,000 persons are injured in traffic accidents annually, and that the number is increasing? Do you realize that thousands of these will be handicapped for life as the result of a moment's thoughtlessness or carelessness?

BAD BRAKES
The figures show that defective brakes were one of the major causes of accidents, and that defective steering mechanisms, defective lighting equipment, worn-out tires and other miscellaneous defects in equipment were responsible for thousands of the remainder of the accidents.

THE TRAGIC PART OF IT ALL is that these are things which could—and can be—remedied. In every city, every town and village, there are mechanics who are waiting for work—men capable to remedy those defects. There is absolutely no excuse for anyone driving an automobile which is not mechanically perfect. Any attempt to drive an automobile which is not mechanically perfect is to commit a crime against society. For the man who does this is a potential killer.

VICTIM PRICE
The painful part of it all is that often the person to blame for these mishaps escapes themselves with but little injury. Sometimes the courts affix blame and they find themselves in jail. But it is their families and the families of the victims who pay the greatest price. Every driver should see that the

CAMPAIGN FOR CIVIC BEAUTY HITS STRETCH

Work Speeds Up as Time For Visit of King and Queen Nears

Edmonton's Junior Chamber of Commerce on Saturday issued a special appeal to citizens to clean up and paint up their homes and businesses for the visit of His Majesty, now less than three weeks away.

Visitors who, it is hoped, will see Edmonton in its loveliest and brightest colors in late May and early June, are expected to start arriving here within less than two weeks. The influx should assume large proportions within three weeks.

ACTIVELY SUPPORTED

The Junior chamber's royal beautification campaign, designed to put the city in top-notch condition for the Royal visit, is being actively supported by the city, the Royal visit committee, the city council, and other civic organizations.

Joe K. Smith is president of the chamber and Geoffrey Harris is chairman of the beautification committee. Extensive plans for the campaign were drawn up by these and other executives and have been put into effect.

CITIZENS ARE KEEN

Already many citizens have responded eagerly to the call for beautification and encouraged by the initial response, Junior Chamber and civic officials are confident that the city will be second to none in Royal Visit appearance.

Railway and oil companies have already offered full co-operation to the beautification committee in making their premises as beautiful as possible. Smaller businesses already are getting each other in this effort.

Suggestions for

HOME REMODELING

Here is how a simple change of living-room, kitchen, bath and two bedrooms can be enlarged with a master bedroom, dining-room, porch, garage, and tool shed.

If there is sun for at least half the day and no roots of trees to contend with, grass will grow.

It costs money to place manure in the subsoil and have a five-inch layer of topsoil over it. One way to save this cost is to be patient and grow a cover crop the first year such as rye or clover. Dig under the green crop before the plants go to seed and thus produce a green manure that will supply nourishment to the grass that it sown by seed in the fall.

After the ground is prepared, there is manure in the subsoil and five inches of good soil on top or whether this same condition has been made by growing a green crop, here are the steps to make a lasting lawn.

ROTHSCHILD TO SUE GERMANY FOR FORTY FINE

Baron Arrives in Paris After Release From Prison

PARIS, May 11.—Baron Louis Rothschild, white-haired and vividly aged after more than a year's imprisonment by Nazi secret police in Berlin, arrived in Paris today for Zurich, Switzerland, where he had flown last night from Vienna.

Baron Louis was accompanied to Paris from Zurich by several Rothschild attorneys whom he had instructed to sue the German government in an attempt to recover at least part of his fortune said to have been confiscated after Germany's annexation of Austria in March, 1938.

One of the Baron's close friends told Louis was "in good condition" despite the long imprisonment.

"Conditions under which Baron Louis was released make it impossible for him to discuss his imprisonment under any circumstances," his friend explained. He revealed, also, that Rothschild's relatives and associates still in Germany are under untraced restrictions which depend on Baron Louis' activities in Paris.

FRANCO LAUDS AIR WARRIORS ITALY, REICH

MADRID, May 12.—General Franco, reviewing the air force that helped him win the Spanish civil war, Friday declared and praised Spanish and German fliers who served him.

For the foreign aviators it was a privilege to find official appearance on Spanish soil. The government has set May 19 for the city of Madrid to hold the event for which their homing has been delayed. The parade will be part of four-day celebrations scheduled for May 18 to 21 after several postponements.

Reviewing German, Italian and British aviators at Barajas, outside Madrid, Franco compared Spain's air forces to "the most advanced" taught ready to shoot an arrow. He said they must remain in that way.

Mussolini May Voice Reply At Turin Address
ROME, May 12.—Fascist sources here last night said Mussolini will voice his reply to statements by Prime Minister Chamberlain and Premier Daladier of France in a speech Sunday at Turin.

In some Fascist quarters it was believed he might strike a conciliatory note and lay out the way for negotiation of Fascist colonial demands on France.

Farmers Order Poison Spreaders
SIDNEY, Mont., May 13.—Montana farmers have placed orders for 40 poison spreaders to cope with the grasshopper horde that are stripping bare many of the wheat fields. The Montana county, Poison-spreading plants are operating at Sidney to supply the 35 spreaders in use.

Edmonton Destined Gateway to Orient Capt. Bell States

Edmonton's present position as one of Canada's leading aviation centres is due to the fact that she is the "Gateway to the North," but her future lies in the development of her position as the focal point of the main air train connecting North America with Europe, via the trans-polar route, and the Orient and the East via Yukon and Alaska and Bering Sea.

Such is the main conviction of Captain James Bell, manager of Edmonton's Blatchford Field airport, and one of the leading aviation authorities in western Canada. His conviction is shared by other leading aviation authorities in all parts of the world and its reasonableness is borne out by the facts.

"As I see it, Edmonton will be the meeting point of three main routes," said Captain Bell, in an exclusive interview with The Bulletin Saturday. "From Edmonton, plus the TCA route, to connect with other air lines in the States to all points of the North and South American continents."

TO THE ORIENT
"From Edmonton, two planes will fly northwest, over the route pioneered by Grant McConachie and now serviced by his company, to the Yukon, on to Fairbanks, Alaska, westward to Nome, across the Arctic Circle to Asia, down the coast of Asia to the population and industrial centres of Japan, China and to the outposts of Empire, such as Hong Kong, Singapore, India and Australia."

"The third route will be northwards from Edmonton, across the pole to the North Pole, and from there to the capitals of Europe. The Russians have already made several routes over the pole, which offers the shortest route from Russia to North America."

"While I expect that this last route will be the last to be developed, the other two will become realities in the near future. People realize that it is about 4,000 miles shorter to go over the pole than to go around the world, and the industrial and business centre of America, in Shanghai, the industrial and trading centre of the Orient, via Edmonton, the Yukon and Alaska, than it is via San Francisco and the Pacific route now flown by Pan American China Clippers."

PAN-AMERICAN
"Although the average person has never had any occasion to know this, the fact is well known to all aviation officials on the continent. Pan-American were very anxious to fly from their base at Fairbanks, Alaska, through to Edmonton for this very reason. Now they are experimenting with flights up the west coast of British Columbia. This is because the long over-water hops necessary on their trans-Pacific route make the cost of operation and the risk. Large quantities of fuel must be carried, cutting down the carrying capacity. Weather reports are apt to be more uncertain, and in case of emergency the ocean is hardly an ideal place to land and wait for the weather to clear or repairs to be made."

FREEZER LAND ROUTE
"It is significant, I believe, that the Director of Imperial Airways, England's Empire line, chose to fly over the Arctic route, over water routes. They are now thinking of a route to Australia. Surely it is because the long over-water hops necessary on their trans-Pacific route make the cost of operation and the risk. Large quantities of fuel must be carried, cutting down the carrying capacity. Weather reports are apt to be more uncertain, and in case of emergency the ocean is hardly an ideal place to land and wait for the weather to clear or repairs to be made."

CANADA SAID SUFFOCATING FROM PLENTY

Conditions in Dominion Described By German Correspondent

BERLIN, May 12.—Canada is "suffocating in abundance," Dr. Hermann Ullman, special correspondent of the Berliner Zeitung, said today in an article entitled "The Kingdom of the North."

While dealing principally with the significance of the visit of the King and Queen to the Dominion and the United States, he mentioned the economic situation as follows:

"This country, as large as Europe and one of the richest in the world, suffers from a famine from the land, and from the point of view of export passes as already over-industrialized."

ROYAL VISIT SYMBOL
Dr. Ullman said the visit of the King and Queen goes much farther than to confirm the links between Canada and the Empire, being the symbol of a revolution from London through Ottawa to Washington.

Canadian Liberals, he said, present the Royal visit to bring the United States and the British Empire close together.

"The King is the last visible link connecting Canada to the Empire," he added, "but the link is strong."

Declaring that French-Canadian from the chief obstacle to any change in the Canadian constitution, Dr. Ullman said:

"Any stone removed from the edifice of the constitution would make complete reconstruction necessary, or would lead to a collapse. For the moment unity is best assured by solidarity with the empire."

IS PROTECTION
This solidarity, he said, "is for French-Canadian the best protection against absorption in the Anglo-Saxonism of the United States."

"However diverse may be the motives and motives of fidelity to the empire in Canada," he went on, "nevertheless may be the desire of English Ontario to separate from French Canada and the desire of French Canada to separate from the more Americanized provinces and British Columbia. At such a political conscience come together in a profound faith toward the empire."

Dr. Ullman complained that English-speaking newspapers in Canada were strongly anti-German.

He said the present feeling in Canada was such that it was not even necessary to organize a demonstration of absolute faith in the empire as the British Empire was expected to be.

The Berliner Zeitung correspondent pointed to recent statements of Prime Minister Mackenzie King and Justice Minister Ernest Lapointe as leaving no doubt that the position of Canada would be in case Britain decided to go to war.

"Germany is Canada's best customer," the Volkskeiter Beobachter said last night in commenting on the relations between Germany and the Dominion.

The Nazi organ said Germany had contributed largely to the economic consolidation of Canada and expressed hope that Canada would consider this in making purchases from Germany.

The Berliner Zeitung said that many experts to interest themselves more in the Canadian market.

ACREAGE BONUS BILL ATTACKED UPON VALIDITY

OTTAWA, May 12.—Challenging constitutionality of the government's acreage bonus bill, Senator Arthur Meighen, Conservative leader in the Senate Friday forewarned public "of the being of the bill."

It was insurance legislation, on all four with the legal insurance project of the Bennett government which had been declared ultra vires by the privy council, he said.

"It is really this is a crop insurance scheme and not a taxation measure at all. There is no collection of money under it, but the collection of that money is not for the general purpose of the government. It is for the purpose of recouping those who suffer from crop failure."

"The minister of agriculture, J. G. Gendron, declared this bill in the banking committee by saying that this parliament could spend any amount of money it desired. But such collection of money must not be for purposes that are ultra vires."

POISON IVY.

COPY, 1939 BY NEA SERVICE, INC.

WARM WEATHER BRINGS THE PICNIC SEASON AGAIN, BUT IT ALSO BRINGS OUTDOOR ENTHUSIASTS IN CONTACT WITH POISON IVY AND ITS VENOMOUS COUSINS, POISON OAK AND POISON SUMAC.

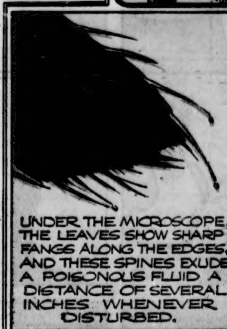

THE BEST CURE FOR POISON IVY IS TO AVOID IT, BY LEARNING TO RECOGNIZE IT! OBEY THE OLD ADAGE: "LEAVES THREE, TURN AND FLEE."

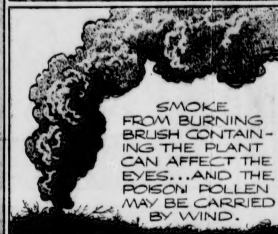

THE DARK GREEN, OVATE, POINTED, SOMETIMES TOOTHED, LEAVES, MOST ALWAYS ARE FOUND IN THREES... SOMETIMES GLOSSY IN APPEARANCE, OTHER TIMES DULL, AND THE PLANT RANGES FROM A LOW, STRAGGLING SHRUB TO A STOUT, WOODY, TREE-CLIMBING VINE.

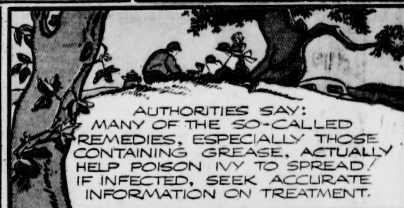

THE STEMS, TOO, HAVE PORES WHICH THROW OFF POISON WHEN TOUCHED... AND THE ROOTS ARE DANGEROUS THE YEAR ROUND.

UNDER THE MICROSCOPE, THE LEAVES SHOW SHARP FANGS ALONG THE EDGES, AND THESE SPINES EXUDE A POISONOUS FLUID A DISTANCE OF SEVERAL INCHES WHENEVER DISTURBED.

SMOKE FROM BURNING BRUSH CONTAINING THE PLANT CAN AFFECT THE EYES... AND THE POISON POLLEN MAY BE CARRIED BY WIND.

AUTHORITIES SAY:

MANY OF THE SO-CALLED REMEDIES, ESPECIALLY THOSE CONTAINING GREASE, ACTUALLY HELP POISON IVY TO SPREAD. IF INFECTED, SEEK ACCURATE INFORMATION ON TREATMENT.
